2nd Annual Grown Folk OBX Week -- Adults Only

We Are Headed Back To The OBX!

In October of 2019 a group of Vacation-Thirsty individuals headed to the Outer Banks, NC, for a week on the beach. One week later the mission was a GREAT success with everyone looking forward to next year. Unfortunately, a funny little thing called the Covid-19 virus put a chink in our 2020 plans. UNCERTAINTY clouded our trip, especially our year-long friendly payment schedule, just as it has most things in our lives today. Because of the virus the islands of the Outer Banks were closed to vacationers with many of the hotels and mini-mansions – the type of residency where we stayed – had to reimburse patrons. However, the Outer Banks reopened in May and we are headed back to our vacation destination once again.

While scientists continue to search for a vaccine many of us, and I'll say 100% of my REAL friends including those from last year's OBX trip, have learned to live and stay safe despite this pandemic. Social distancing, wearing mask, washing hands regularly and sanitizing environments is our new norm. Couple that with the low number of reported Covid-19 cases in the Outer Banks then our UNCERTAINTY about being safe has become a lot more CERTAIN. That said here is why I will feel safe...

- The average age of our group last year, and those signed up so far this year, is around 60 years (in other words all of us are responsible adults you won't see on the news at a crowded party or event)
- The Outer Banks is one of the places with the lowest number of Covid-19 cases in North Carolina
- Beyond Paradise have more than 13,000 square feet of internal space with different venues and tons of outdoor space. It is HUGH! CLICK HERE TO SEE HOW HUGH!
- October is the vacation off-season in the Outer Banks and the beach is sparse even when there is no pandemic
- We all, as of right now, will be traveling by car and none by public transportation (airplane, bus, etc.)
- We are asking everyone to test and/or quarantine before they arrive

That said my Vacation-Thirsty OBX Family and Friends the details for the 2nd Annual Grown Folk OBX Week -- Adults Only vacation is as follows...
